Nixon Unlikely To Be Witness

WASHINGTON (AP) — A report from court-appointed doctors on the health of Richard M. Nixon makes it unlikely the former president's testimony ever will be heard in the Watergate cover-up trial.

The doctors said Friday that if Nixon's health is not to be jeopardized, the earliest he could testify — even under severely limited conditions at his home in California — would be Jan. 6, 1975.

U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica, backed by a number of defense lawyers, has predicted the complicated conspiracy trial that began Oct. 1 will be over before Christmas.

At the rate lawyers for the five defendants are presenting their cases, Sirica probably would have to suspend the trial for at least a week over the holiday period while Nixon continues his recovery from surgery for a chronic phlebitis condition.

The panel of three doctors chosen by Sirica said the former president's condition rules out any travel to Washington to testify. If he continues recovering "at the anticipated rate," the medical report said, the 61-year-old Nixon may be able to travel across the country by Feb. 16.

Sirica sent the jury from the courtroom before making public the unanimous medical report by chairman Dr. Charles A. Hufnagel of Georgetown University, Dr. Richard S. Ross of Johns Hopkins University and Dr. John A. Spittell Jr. of the Mayo Clinic.

Testifying in his own defense at the trial Friday was former White House Chief of Staff H. R. Haldeman, who denied all accusations about his participation in attempts to cover up the June 17, 1972 break-in at Democratic National Committee headquarters.

Lawyers familiar with the case said that if testimony ends before Nixon is well enough to provide testimony under oath at his San Clemente, Calif., estate, Sirica could keep the jurors sequestered at a downtown Washington hotel where they have stayed since the trial began 10 weeks ago.

One slim possibility, the lawyers said, is that the judge might simply send the jurors home for the holidays and call them back to hear a deposition from Nixon read to them before lawyers for the defense and prosecution make closing statements.

Like John N. Mitchell, the only defendant to testify before him, Haldeman contradicted the testimony of several previous witnesses, including former White House counsel John W. Dean III.

Haldeman testifed it was he who suggested that a $350,000 White House fund be used to aid the seven original Watergate defendants.

But he emphasized that he never had any inkling that the cash was for other than family support, attorneys' fees or bail money.

Ford Blasts Ag Chief For 'Joke'

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the second time in three weeks, President Ford has felt compelled to call a top-level official on the carpet for making remarks seen as offensive by religious or ethnic groups.

Ford dressed down Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz on Friday for criticism of Pope Paul VI's position on birth control. Butz already had made a public explanation of his controversial remarks, but Ford told him that wasn't good enough and forced him to issue an apology.

On Nov. 14, Ford summoned Air Force Gen. George S. Brown, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, to the Oval Office for a chewing-out for having talked publicly about Israeli supporters in the United States in a manner that some considered anti-Semitic. Brown already had apologized by the time Ford got to him.

In Butz's case, the agriculture chief first sought through a public statement to minimize his reported use of a mock-Italian accent at a breakfast meeting with reporters. He criticized the Pope's birth control stand by saying, "He no playa the game, he no maka the rules."

Butz said in his initial statement: "There was never any intention in any of the discussion or in any remark to impugn the motives or the integrity of any religious group, ethnic group, or religious leader. I regret that some such interpretations have been made."

After getting his marching orders from Ford, Butz added, "and I sincerely apologize for any part I played in it."

There has been frequent speculation that Butz will be among the first of the holdovers from the Nixon administration to return to private life.

UMW Leaders Woo Workers With Pact

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — United Mine Workers officials began a campaign in the coal fields today to win approval of the proposed soft-coal contract and avoid a prolonged strike which could further cripple the nation's economy.

The nearly three-week-old strike has already idled at least 23,000 employes in other industries, mostly steel and railroad workers. Government economists say a four-week strike could idle as many as 400,000 persons.

The union has embarked on a wide-ranging effort to publicize the contract in the coal fields, beginning with district meetings of local officials today and with radio and television spots throughout the weekend.

The 120,000-member union will conduct secret balloting Monday with the results expected to be known late that night, UMW President Arnold Miller said. If ratified, the contract would take effect at 12:01 a.m. Wednesday.

Miller predicted the contract would receive approval from 60 per cent of the miners. But the agreement, calling for a 64 per cent increase in wages and benefits over a three-year period, could be in trouble in several coalfield regions.

At a meeting of about 100 miners in Logan County Friday, many expressed dissatisfaction with wage and pension provisions, as well as the absence of a clause on the right to strike over local issues.

A spokesman for the dissident Miners Committee to Defend the Right to Strike said a caravan of vehicles planned to meet at Beckley, W.Va., today and drive through the southern West Virginia coalfields to express opposition to the contract.

On Friday, between 200 and 300 placard-carrying miners rallied in Bellaire, Ohio, to protest the contract.

An unsigned leaflet distributed at the meeting said of the proposed contract: "Some of its provisions are worse than the hated and bitterly resisted 1971 contract. We struck after the last contract to lessen the wage gap between the highest and lowest paid. This contract widens the gap more."

Miller, who took over the union in 1973, said he was not concerned that some coal miners apparently felt that "I sold them out. Some would vote against anything I brought back."

He said it would have taken several months to get a clause guaranteeing the right to strike over local issues into the contract. He said the new grievance procedure should work out satisfactorily.

Miller said improvements in safety provisons were "tremendous." He said safety had been at the top of the list of negotiating priorities and wages had been sixth.

Low Auto Output Seen Through '75

DETROIT (AP) — Auto giant General Motors has served notice that production will remain in low gear in 1975 — announcing new layoffs which will total 105,000 workers in January, 64,000 indefinitely.

With a large inventory of unsold cars, GM said Friday it will boost its 1975 unemployment rolls by 65,000 workers. Included are 41,000 being furloughed for one and two-week periods in January.

Also included are 24,000 indefinite layoffs on top of the current 40,000. GM's blue-collar workforce numbers about 370,000.

The firm's hand was forced by a large stockpile of new cars, estimated at 71-days worth. An industry-wide 1.75 million unsold cars is believed to be an all-time record. At the present snails-pace sales rate, those cars would last 83 days.

GM is in better shape than its competitors: Chrysler's supply is estimated at 124 days, American Motors' at 100 and Ford's at 85.

Auto industry layoffs next week will affect 165,000 workers, including 71,200 at Chrysler, 39,900 at Ford and 53,875 at GM.

Car sales during the mid-November period were dismal, 35 per cent below the previous year's period when the energy crisis had already begun to chip away at sales.

Chrysler was down 42 per cent in the most recent period; AMC was off 35 per cent, GM 34 per cent and Ford 31 per cent.

Ford layoffs scheduled through March will affect 47,325 of the firm's 178,000 hourly workers, including 15,500 indefinitely. Most of the temporary layoffs are set for December when Ford will shut eight assembly operations for one week.

Chrysler says substantial cutbacks will be continued into 1975.

AMC has scheduled a oneweek shutdown of its Gremlin and Hornet assembly lines in Kenosha, Wis., for next month, but has not released any January layoffs.

GM said Friday it is eliminating second shifts Jan. 13 at two of its 22 assembly plants, in Janesville, Wis., and Fremont, Calif.

Effective the same day, the assembly lines will be slowed at the Buick plant in Flint; the Oldsmobile plant in Lansing; and assembly plants in Fairfax, Kan., and Oshawa, Ont. Indefinite layoffs at those locations and companion body plants will total 4,220.

Indefinite furloughs at component plants and other facilities throughout the vast GM system will bring the total of new indefinite layoffs to 24,000 by the end of January, GM said.

Ohio Housing Act In Effect Tuesday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan's signature next Tuesday will be the first step in an attempt to get Ohio's new housing program under way.

He plans at that time to approve an emergency act, passed by the legislature earlier this month, that enables the state to make and guarantee loans for low and moderate income housing.

William A. Losoncy, executive director of the Ohio Housing Development Board, said the first loans may be made as early as next June—assuming the successful resolution of legal problems.

He said legal briefs are being prepared now to try to settle the matter of whether the legislation runs afoul of the Ohio Constitution.

Some attorney-members of the legislature argued that it would violate the constitutional ban against pledging the faith and credit of the state without a vote of the people.

"We think it clearly would not," said Losoncy, pointing out that bonds issued by the board would be repaid by borrowers and would not entail the use of general revenue funds.

Under the program, the state plans to issue bonds, perhaps as much as $150 million to start, and pay interest of about 7 per cent on them, under current market conditions.

It then would loan out the money, at 8 or 9 per cent, to developers, individuals, and others for the purpose of building and rehabilitating housing.

Losoncy noted that commercial housing loans now cost the builder 10 or 11 per cent. The state would only charge borrowers what was necessary to cover administrative costs, using the balance to retire the bonds.

In addition to the court test, which probably will be filed directly in the Ohio Supreme Court, Losoncy said the board also will have to hire staff and work out other details within the next few months.

Attorneys probably will initiate a test case by having the board reject a housing loan application on constitutional grounds, clearing the way for them to bring the constitutional question before the high court, he said.

Oil War Said Unthinkable

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Treasury Secretary William Simon says in an interview published here today that U.S. military intervention to secure lower oil prices is "unthinkable and ridiculous."

But the Beirut newspaper Daily Star quotes Simon as saying that the United States will push ahead for lower oil prices. The comments were made to a Daily Star editor in Washington.

Simon told the newspaper that King Faisal of Saudi Arabia "should be commended" because he "has been a leader in wisdom and courage and in understanding the danger that the higher prices of oil are causing for the world economy."

The United States is seeking cooperation, and not confrontation with the oil producing nations, Simon told the editor. He said he will be making another trip to the Middle East in December.

Simon said the United States is importing 7.7 million barrels of oil a day, one million barrels less than last year.

2 Die In Chemical Plant Fire

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Firemen pulled two charred bodies from the ruins of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., chemical plant after a series of explosions which destroyed 25 per cent of the $50 million complex, the Department of Public Safety said.

The plant was shaken about 8 p.m. Friday when an explosion occurred in the isoprene unit, sending massive fireballs 500 to 600 feet in the air.

Earlier, Goodyear officials had said all workers at the plant eight miles south of here on Interstate 10 had been accounted for, including 10 injured.

Neither body could be identified immediately. But hours later a funeral home confirmed it received two badly burned bodies retrieved from beneath a tall tower which exploded during the fire.

Approximately 125 to 150 persons scattered from the plant shortly after the blast, which was followed by four smaller blasts as fire spread.

C.T. Winchester, technical supervisor for Goodyear, said 15 to 18 workers briefly fought a fire in the isoprene unit before fleeing, just before the initial explosion. Isoprene is a volatile feed stock used in making synthetic rubber.

A spokesman at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, where the injured were taken, said doctors treated and released eight persons. Admitted and in serious condition was Ronnie Hively, 33, of Beaumont. Another man hospitalized, Harry Huebel, 23, of Nederland, was in good condition.

Eyewitnesses said that two hours after the explosion flames still roared as high as 120 feet over the vessels, or towers, of the plant. At times the fire appeared to subside, only to be fed by a new explosion and fanned by a cold wind gusting to 35 miles per hour.

Jefferson County sheriff's deputies ordered residents to evacuate an area west of the plant in a sparsely populated area eight miles southwest of Beaumont on Interstate 10. Several schools were opened to house the refugees.

Shortly after midnight firemen said the fire was under control, though they refused to discount the possibility of further explosions.

John A. Key, who lives four miles from the plant, said the first explosion "blew out the windows of our home and threw the doors open."

Harvey Merrell, whose family was among those evacuated, said: "It went up like a ball of fire, the ceiling of our kitchen collapsed ... it was just a mess."

LONG TIME COMING—Westfall basketball coach Mike Eckle is about to get all wet as his happy players carry him to the showers following the Mustangs first Scioto Valley Conference win in 16 games. And it was a big win, a 59-55 victory over Zane Trace. Tonight Westfall will go against Millersport in a non-league contest. Details are on the sports page.

Studies May Produce Higher Soybean Yields

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Agricultural scientists have been puzzled why the majority of flowers which form on soybean plants never develop into pods containing the protein-rich soybean seeds. Now, an Ohio study indicates that a major reason why plants fail to retain pods may be related to light or temperature or a combination of these factors.

Dr. J. B. Schou, a post-doctoral research associate in agronomy at the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center, Wooster, described the studies at the recent combined annual meetings of the American Society of Agronomy, Crop Science Society, and Soil Science Society of America, held in Chicago.

In 1973, Schou set out to measure the effects of light at different stages of plant development on yield of soybean. He increased light to the plants by installing reflectors in soybean fields. The reflectors provided 57 per cent added light by reflecting sunlight back to the plants. This "light enrichment" provided for a critical 2-week period during early-pod formation, increased total seed and total plant weights at maturity 57 and 50 per cent, respectively, Schou reported.

On the basis of the first year's results, Schou theorized it might be possible to alter the planting pattern or row width so that plants could make maximum use of light during early pod set. Or perhaps new varieties might be developed which form more pods per plant or utilize available light to a greater advantage than presently grown varieties.

During the study, he noted the problem with soybean plants is not that the flowers fail to develop into pods, but that the plant fails to retain a high percentage of pods. Pod retention is most critical from about August 1 to maturity.

In 1974, Schou expanded his study to include shades and non-reflective devices. A preliminary analysis of this year's data indicates that pod retention may be influenced more by temperature on the leaf surface than by light. He plans to explore this possibility further to determine which factor or combination of factors are keys in pod retention.

Ultimately Schou wants to find some way of making the soybean plant retain more of its pods and thus increase crop yields. He's already looking at possible chemical treatments which may enhance pod retention. Altering plants through breeding may also be a way to improve pod retention.

Schou conducted the research in cooperation with Dr. D. L. Jeffers and Dr. J. G. Streeter, research agronomists at the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center.

Have you ever received something through the mail which you didn't want? Trying to get out of a book club or record club is like trying to order berry pie at the Pumpkin Show.

If you have contacted a company to cancel any kind of subscription or membership and still the goods keep coming, don't throw it at the mailman. All you need to do is refuse it. Do not bend, fold, mutilate or open it. If you refuse it, it goes back to the sender and he pays the return postage. At today's rates, this can be costly to any company and your returned item will get that cancellation. Incidently, anything sent to you which you didn't request is yours.

I have a list of suggested toys for various ages if you would like one. Contact our office at 474-7534. A booklet "Choosing Toys for Children of All Ages" is available to you free from the American Toy Institute, Inc. 200 Fifth Avenue, New York, New York 10010.

Start your Christmas season right with an evening of fun this Monday night. The Extension Homemakers Christmas meeting starts at 6:30 p.m. (bazaar and registration), program at 7:30 p.m. See you there!

The stores are getting crowded with shopping Santas but I feel a real "choosey" attitude as I watch people select toys. I hope each consumer reads the box contents. Some of the kits on the market are very incomplete. Check for brushes, batteries, glue, frames, paint thinner, and the like. It's very disappointing for a child (or parent) not to be able to try out a toy on Christmas. As production costs rise, more extras are eliminated from kits.

Keep in mind that from the time a child first uses a certain kind of toy, his interest will usually continue as he grows. For example, a child who enjoys a tricycle will likely enjoy a bike later on. The same is true of such playthings as construction toys, board games, books, paint sets, handicrafts, musical instruments and sports equipment.

Some ideas for a toy for children 6 to 9 years old are: board games, tabletop sports, fashion dolls (and accessories), toy typewriters, printing sets, racing cars, trains, construction sets, science sets, handicrafts, books, sports equipment. Children 9 to 12 enjoy much the same toys, but more difficult, challenging ones. He is thinking more on his own at this age.

To light or not to light seems to be the big Christmas question. Some energy experts are predicting that the days of complete neighborhood lighting contests are over. Lighting in moderation will probably be the holiday trend for the next decade, or until other forms of energy than oil and coal are developed. Since Christmas wiring sales are down drastically, the public evidently is not planning to increase lighting, but rather make do with last year's purchased lights that are still good and were never used.

Checking into the local Christmas lighting supply was frustrating for me indeed. Of five brands (foreign and American) only one listed the wattage of the bulbs. Of the five only one brand was actually made in the United States. Some of the others had American brand names, but were made in other countries. One package of 15 average-sized bulbs, listed 6 watts per bulb. That would add up to 90 watts of electricity an hour (of constant use), or about eleven hours of lighting (one string of 15 average bulbs) for about 3-½ cents. Larger Christmas outdoor bulbs are about 15 watts each.

People Helping People

4-H

1974 proved to be a very successful year for 4-H development in Pickaway County and its various communities. The crystal ball for 1975 seems to indicate that even bigger and better things for 4-H are yet to come.

At this time of year, it seems fitting that information concerning 4-H should be discussed for those interested in "We Can Make It Happen" for enjoying life.

What Are 4-H Clubs?

4-H clubs are groups of young people from the ages of 9 to 19 who try to live by the motto "To Make The Best Better." They may be from different backgrounds, social or economic, but that doesn't matter because they all have one common slogan, "learn by doing."

In their club meetings 4-H members are taught the principles of courtesy, love and respect for one another, their club, community and country.

Within their club framework, the members are given many responsibilities which enable them to develop leadership. 4-H members are required to work on individual projects. By working with their hands in making a dress, building an electric motor, showing a horse or training their dog, 4-H members create confidence in themselves which makes them productive and useful citizens.

What Does 4-H Mean?

The term 4-H refers to the "Head," "Heart," "Hands," and "Health."

The Head stands for the value of learning the latest scientific knowledge. Since 4-H had its beginning with rural and suburban areas this knowledge has been directed to farming and homemaking projects. The term head also indicates development of "Family Partnership: love in the home, and good family relations."

The Heart stands for "wholesome character and personality." The qualities of leadership and good citizenship through working together for community improvement.

The Hands are symbolical of those skills in farming, homemaking, mechanics and vocation trades which require much training.

Health refer to cultivating good health habits which lead to happiness and clean lives. By keeping this pledge, members develop an appreciation for reading, music and recreation, all of which help create well adjusted lives.

Who Conducts 4-H Work?

4-H clubs throughout the United States are part of the United States Department of Agricultural (USDA). The USDA gives national leadership to the 4-H program. Within each state, the land-grant college (Ohio State University) is the main center for the state 4-H program. The land-grant college furnishes each county with faculty members who give leadership, guidance and training to 4-H advisors and members throughout the country.

The local 4-H clubs have advisors who are usually very spirited men and women, mostly parents, who serve as unpaid volunteers. These men and women give of their time unselfishly so that they may help supervise and see that clubs run smoothly.

Yes, 4-H work does do a lot for the development of young people and adults. May this year prove to be a very successful one for Pickaway County. May we think of growth not necessarily in terms of number, but in measuring individual character and understanding for our club, community, and country.

Corn Quality Is Key To Protein Withdrawal

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent
Agriculture

The crude protein content of corn and corn silage must be at normal levels if beef cattlemen plan to withdraw supplemental protein from the rations of feedlot cattle during the finishing phase of beef production. That's the latest finding in continuing studies by Dr. R. L. Preston, animal science researcher at the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center.

For the past two years, Preston has been telling cattlemen there's no need to keep feeding high-priced supplemental protein to finishing cattle after an initial feeding period. He based his recommendations on the results of more than a half dozen studies.

In Ohio studies with both feeder calves and yearling steers, protein supplement was withdrawn from typical corn-corn silage rations after the initial feeding period when cattle reached a weight of at least 750 pounds. All other nutrients — especially potassium — were maintained at adequate levels in the rations. Cattle performance was not affected by protein withdrawal.

In the latest study, however, cattle performance took a nosedive when protein was withdrawn — the first negative results the Ohio animal scientist has noted in protein withdrawal studies. Here's what happened.

The 1974 experiment was with steers on high concentrate (corn grain) rations. After 84 days on feed and with the animals weighing an average of 780 pounds, supplemental protein was withdrawn as in past studies. This time, however, gains decrease significantly.

A bit of detective work turned up the reason — the corn in the all-concentrate rations was low in protein. Further checking produced dramatic proof of the importance of protein content of corn and corn silage.

Prior to withdrawal, the cattle were getting corn grown at the Research Center in 1973. The corn averaged 9.8 per cent crude protein (on a dry matter basis). "Normal" crude protein levels run approximately 9½ to 10 per cent so the Center-grown corn fell in the normal range.

About the time the protein withdrawal began, the Center's corn supply was exhausted and corn for livestock was purchased from a commercial supplier. Preston checked the corn and found it averaged only 8.5 per cent crude protein with one sample dipping to 8.1 per cent. This meant the ration during protein withdrawal could have been as low as 8 per cent crude protein.

Preston says this confirms results of studies by animal scientists at Purdue University whose research has indicated protein withdrawal results in sharply decreased performance of feedlot cattle. The Purdue rations (corn-corn silage) were low in crude-protein (7½ per cent on a dry matter basis).

On the basis of the most recent results, Preston draws two important conclusions:

Cattle feeders contemplating protein withdrawal should have their corn grain and silage analyzed to be sure the ration will contain sufficient crude protein. This can be done through the Ohio Livestock Ration Evaluation Program, commercial laboratories, or through feed companies.

If the ration is going to be below 8.2-8.3 per cent crude protein, supplemental protein is needed.

Now Preston is wondering why the protein content of the corn was so far below normal. Are the hybrids now being grown in the eastern cornbelt lower in protein than those formerly grown? Or are other factors such as weather, fertility, or something else responsible?

A check with Center corn breeders indicates they don't believe currently grown hybrids have changed enough genetically that they can be blamed. However, there isn't enough current data to rule out the possibility. It's apparent answers to the question depend on additional research which will enable the scientists to pinpoint the reasons for lower than normal crude protein in some lots of corn.

The first railroad in the United States was built in 1830 from Charleston to Hamburg, S.C. The first passenger train, "The Best Friend," made its initial trip in 1831. Newspapers reported: "The passengers flew on wings of the wind, annihilating space and leaving all the world behind at the fantastic speed of 15 m.p.h."

Looking Ahead

While looking ahead to next year's vegetable garden, the best time to evaluate this year's garden is now when your crop successes of failures are fresh in your mind.

Did your vegetable and fruit harvest meet your desires? Were the vegetable varieties you used satisfactory, or could you have selected better ones?

List varieties you grew and note their performances. If some failed to produce to your expectations, check the Ohio Cooperative Extension Bulletin 287, Home Vegetables Gardening, and L-100, Vegetable Varieties in Ohio Gardens. These publications give you guidelines for better gardening and list varieties recommended for Ohio conditions.

Seed Catalogs

Order your seed catalogs now. Inflation has stimulated more interest in gardening, creating shortages of supplies as the gardening season nears. So, get your seed orders in early. Check the Ohio recommended variety list with available seeds in catalogs. You'll find most of them. If you want to try a new variety, plant only a portion of your needs in the new variety, as a trial project the first year. Use a proven variety for your area as the balance of your needs.

The winter months ahead are ideal for studying past performances of your gardening venture and for making plans for next year's garden.

Winterize Home Fruit Trees

Prevent damage to your fruit trees by preparing them for winter. Mow grass and weeds in the orchard area, especially around tree trunks. Use hand clippers to remove vegetation missed by the mower. Unmowed grass and weeds provide cover for field mice, which eat the inner bark of the trunk and roots of fruit trees.

Rabbits eat the bark off the trunk and branches, within reach, of young fruit trees, too. Normally older trees that have developed heavy outer bark are not bothered. Mechanical barriers protect these trees against rabbit damage. Use chicken wire or hardware cloth to form a cylinder around the trunk. Make it large enough for a couple of inches clearance between trunk and cylinder.

Wrapping the trunk with newspaper, waterproof paper, or tree wrapping paper is helpful, too, Trunk wrapping does not keep the trunk warmer, but it does retard rapid changes in temperature which affect living inner bark. Widely fluctuating temperatures are a major cause of winter injury. Such injury frequently occurs on the south or southwest side of the trunk, the area most likely to be warmed by winter sunlight.

Remove paper wrappings when growth starts in the spring, as these wrappings provide cover for insects during the growing season.

A Page Of Opinion

Cyclamate Test

Back in 1969, when the only reason for eliminating sugar from the diet was related to health, the Food and Drug Administration lowered the boom on one of the principal sugar substitutes, cyclamates.

In a scare attack which knocked the soft drink industry, and others, for a loop, the FDA banned cyclamates on the premise that lab tests indicated a cancer relationship.

Even the FDA admitted an overly cautious attitude on the tests, which consisted of feeding huge amounts of concentrated cyclamates to rats. In the five years since the ban numerous tests of the theory have proven the initial scare was a false alarm.

Other countries which followed the lead of the United States since have rescinded their restrictions on cyclamate use. But despite the mountain of data indicating it acted unwisely, the FDA so far has refused to budge.

Now there are compelling economic reasons for deciding the issue on concrete medical evidence and nothing else. If, in fact, cyclamates do not contain any health danger in quantities reasonably consumed by humans, they would be more welcome than ever as sugar substitutes.

The question must be removed from the hands of bureaucrats and given to a committee of physicians and medical researchers for a definitive answer on the health issue. If the FDA was wrong five years ago, that is no reason for further stalling. If it was right, health specialists must make the determination.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, Nov. 30, the 334th day of 1974. There are 31 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1782, the United States and Britain signed preliminary peace articles in Paris ending the Revolutionary War.

On this date:

In 1864, one of the bloodiest conflicts of the Civil War, the Battle of Franklin, Tennessee, was fought.

In 1874, the British statesman, Sir Winston Churchill, was born.

In 1939, the Soviet Union attacked Finland.

In 1942, during World War II, U.S. bombers struck at Japanese forces holding Rangoon, Burma.

In 1949, the Chinese Communists captured Chungking, China.

In 1962, General U Thant of Burma was elected secretary general of the United Nations.

Ten years ago: The Soviet Union launched a space raft toward Mars, in an apparent 325 million mile race with the U.S. Mariner 4.

Five years ago: Israeli jets struck Egyptian positions twice in the Suez Canal area after ground forces had repulsed a major Egyptian commando raid.

One year ago: The Senate passed legislation increasing Social Security benefits.

Today's birthdays: Actor Efrem Zimbalist Jr. is 51.

Thought for today: Provision for others is a fundamental responsibility of human life — President Woodrow Wilson, 1856-1924.

Our Thanks

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — We must be thankful for many blessings:

President Gerald Ford didn't stab himself in the eye while eating with chopsticks in Kyoto.

Little League Baseball down-held a dangerous rising tide of nationalism in Taiwan and Japan by blackballing their kid ballclubs. Be thankful, folks. You're saved from the yellow peril. (As well as some fine baseball.)

Detroit hauled all of its '75 models out of those pastures, deserts, and on the brink od the precipice overlooking Tierra del Fuego, where they are generally advertised, and put them in showrooms where a fellow can buy them.

Our distinguished Ambassador to the UN, my friend John Scali, formerly of the Associated Press and ABC, made us all proud when he stood up the other day in the Assembly and reasoned as follows:

"It must be clear by now that more violence (in the Middle East) cannot resolve the issues which divide Arab and Israeli. It must be clear by now that more violence cannot bring peace. It will only intensify hatreds, complicate differences and add to the sum of human misery.

"The sole alternative to the sterile pursuit of change through violence is negotiation. This path is less dramatic, but in the end it is far more likely to produce acceptable change."

Well written, for an AP man.

So we should also be thankful that no millionaire ever gave us any of his fortune, and therefore we don't have to answer questions in Washington;

That November is all but done with, and the children and grandchildren will take over December;

That Abraham Lincoln vetoed Thomas Jefferson when he made the last Thursday in November a day of thanksgiving. (Jefferson thought it was a ridiculous idea and somehow violated the letter and spirit of separation of church and state);

That the gasoline price and the fuel shortage in general have cut down on the activities of two prime jerks: 1) the guy who zooms past you at 80 mph and thumbs his nose, and 2) the bloke who invites you to drop by and sweat out how hot his house is.

Speaking of Benj. Franklin, who up to this point has taken no part in this conversation, he was the turkey's best friend. It appalled that frisky Founding Father when he was outvoted in the matter of which should be our national bird — the eagle or the turkey. Benjy held out for the turkey because it was a grain-eater, as opposed to the eagle, a carrion-chomper with ugly tones of foreign imperialism.

So now it's a crime to kill an eagle, and a kind of status symbol to eat a turkey.

We're thankful, too, that Henry Kissinger put his foot down on an alleged suggestion by the U.S. ambassador to Greece that the U.S. Sixth Fleet (Mediterranean) be sent to ward off the Turkish invasion of Cyprus.

(It would have been humiliating for us to lose another one to a small country, after North Korea, North Vietnam, North Libya, North Volta and the North Pole.)

We must also be grateful for a recipe printed in the N.Y. Daily News, a recipe which should boggle the brain until at least Epiphany. It's a dish I'm sure the children will cry for all during the holidays, called "The Henry Cabot Lodge Filibuster Bean Soup." Ready?

Two quarts boiling water. Two cups dried pea beans. Boil two minutes. Let stand one hour. One large onion. One-half teaspoon ground cloves. One-fourth teaspoon garlic powder. Six sprigs fresh parsley, tied. Two bay leaves. One-half teaspoon black pepper. One tablespoon salt. Simmer one hour. Two smoked ham hocks. Cook one hour. One and one-half cups chopped onion. Two ribs chopped celery. Simmer 45 minutes . . . Bring water to boil in Dutch oven.

Then, to add to the joy of Thanksgiving, throw it to hell out.

On Henry!

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

He Expects Bedroom Entertainment

DEAR ABBY: I am a single woman, age 36. A nice looking man rang my doorbell saying his car was stalled and he wanted to use my telephone to call for help.

I let him in, he made the call, and while waiting, I fixed coffee and we sat in my kitchen drinking coffee and getting acquainted. I really started to like this man.

He said he wasn't married and it would be nice to see me again. He gave me his name and phone number and I gave him mine. A week passed and he didn't call, so I called him and asked (in a joking way) if he had lost my number.

He said no, he was just going to call me. I asked him if he wanted to come over for supper that night and he said yes. He came, bringing a box of candy.

I'm sorry to say that he didn't waste much time letting me know he expected to be entertained in the bedroom. I said I wasn't that kind of person.

He left rather early and acted disappointed. He told me to call him if I ever changed my mind.

I really want to see him again, Abby, but I hate to call him. What do you suggest?

MISSING HIM

DEAR MISSING: If you call him, he'll assume that you've decided to entertain him in the bedroom. Have you?

DEAR ABBY: My husband was a good football player in college, but he never was a star. Now he seems determined that our 16-year-old son, Jimmy, will be a star no matter what.

Last year Jimmy broke his leg in the middle of the football season. This year, during the first game, he tore the cartilage in his knee.

To my husband, Jimmy is merely "out for the season." He's already telling Jimmy, "Wait 'til next year, Tiger!"

I know Jimmy doesn't really share his father's enthusiasm for football, but he hates to let his father down.

I am afraid for Jimmy to play again next year. How can I handle this?

OUTSIDE LINEBACKER

DEAR OUT: Have a mom-to-son talk with Jimmy. If he doesn't really want gridiron glory at the expense of his bones, then both of you dig in and make a goal line stand against your husband's obvious obsession. It's time Dad learned "You can't win 'em all."

DEAR ABBY: I am a 52-year-old live-in housekeeper for a middle-aged widower and his teenage son. My problem concerns a woman I've never met. She keeps calling my employer from 10 P.M. until she get him. (I usually go to bed at 10:30.)

If Mr. M. isn't home, I offer to take her number and have him call her when he comes in, but that isn't good enough. She rings up every 15 minutes until she gets him. Sometimes he doesn't get home until 1 A.M., so you can imagine what this does to my sleep. When she finally gets him, she talks for as long as an hour.

Last night he didn't get in until 1:15. After talking to her for half an hour, I heard him say that he was exhausted and he'd call her from his office on Monday. Ten minutes later she called again. She'd forgotten something!

What would you do with such a pest?

IRRITATED IN CALIF.

DEAR IRRITATED: All you can do is complain to your boss. If her calls are unwelcome, he could (a) get an unlisted number, or (b) ask her not to phone after 10. If he doesn't do "a" or "b" and your sleep is more important than your job, you could give him your notice.

CONFIDENTIAL TO SAGITTARIOUS: Yours isn't a marriage-it's a business deal. And it can last as long as you're both satisfied.

After playing for Michigan, he served as an assistant coach at the University of Tennessee and later became a grid assistant to the great Fielding Yost at U of M.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

A new drug recently approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration will soon be used in the treatment of rheumatic arthritis and osteoarthritis.

The drug, ibuprofen, is said to be the first new approved drug for the treatment of arthritis in almost 10 years.

More than 3,000 patients tried this drug before it was considered safe and free of severe toxicity. It has been under constant study for about 11 years in Great Britain. The chemical name of the drug, ibuprofen, will undoubtedly be marketed under trade names of the pharmaceutical manufacturers.

The early detection of cirrhosis of the liver is of great importance in recognizing its underlying cause, eliminating it and encouraging a return to normal function.

A team of physicians at the U.S. Naval Hospital in Philadelphia, headed by Dr. Ada M. Lin, has devised a test in which special enzymes taken from the blood reveal evidence of cirrhosis before symptoms are firmly established.

The new test may make it unnecessary to do a "needle biopsy" by which fragments of liver are removed and studied.

This work holds great promise. Such scientific contributions are constantly being made at hospitals and laboratories associated with the Armed Forces.

The pancreas is a tiny organ behind the stomach wall, and it acts like a thermostat to control the rise and fall of sugar levels in the blood.

The insulin produced by the pancreas governs the utilization of sugar, so important in the lives of people who have diabetes.

A computerized, artificial pancreas is being tried at the University of Toronto, in Canada.

Dr. A. Michael Albisser and his coworkers believe it is now possible for the artificial pancreas to regulate the rise and fall of sugar in the blood, and to calculate and control the amount of insulin necessary to keep the blood sugar level in balance.

When this device is thoroughly refined, it may be possible to implant an artificial pancreas and thus eliminate some of the burdensome treatment associated with diabetes.

Medicare Review Program Slated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Beginning next Feb. 1, doctors and hospitals will have to certify to the government within two days of admission that the elderly Medicare and needy Medicaid patients they treat actually require such care.

The "utilization review" program, announced Thursday, is designed to protect taxpayers from footing the costs of unnecessary hospitalizations and expensive treatments.

The federal Medicare and Medicaid programs, which cost $20 billion during the current fiscal year, could realize savings of $42.5 million by next June 30 under the review program, officials in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare said.

'Spirit Of Abundance' Topic For Monday Club

In continuing preparation for the bicentennial year of the United States, Mary K. May used the topic "The Spirit Of Abundance," for her paper at the Nov. 25th meeting of Monday Club at the Historical Society meeting room. Mrs. Kenneth M. Robbins was reporter for the evening.

Beginning about the year 1900, Luther Burbank was not only a man but a legend. And as the legend grew, his gardens became almost a shrine.

Burbank began learning about plants by tending his mother's garden on the family farm in Massachusetts. At the age of 21 he bought some land of his own and raised vegetables for market. Quite by chance he ran across a rare seed ball on one of his potato plants. He planted the seeds from the ball and from some of them came a new variety of plant, later named the "Idaho Baker." It was the beginning of his career as a plant inventor.

A few years later he left New England for California where the warm weather enabled him to conduct experiments all year long. He described Santa Rosa as the chosen spot of all this earth as far as nature is concerned.

There was little scientific data on plant breeding available when Burbank began this work, so nature became his teacher. He conducted his experiments on a grand scale - as nature does - utilizing thousands upon thousands of plants.

Through hybridization, he produced new strains and varieties of fruits, flowers, vegetables, grains, grasses, and trees.

Burbank approached the task of improving plants with four general ideas in mind. Can unused wild plants be developed into something useful or beautiful? Can the quality and beauty of already used plants be improved? Can useful plants be extended to greater ranges of climate and soil conditions? And finally, can a plant produce a greater yield or serve man by growing faster?

Once Burbank had an idea of the direction in which he wanted the plant to go, he searched at home and through collectors all over the world for the best materials to work with. The essence of Burbank's method was to bring together through cross-pollination many different plant strains from widely separated parts of the world. By cross pollination he combined the various hereditary factors they contained.

At age 36 Burbank became a full time plant breeder. Each year he announced new varieties ranging from plums to gladioli. Big established nursery firms like W. Atlee Burpee became his customers.

Burbank made horticulture spectacular. He stirred the imagination of all people by demonstrating that plants could be changed and improved in desired directions. In the eyes of millions his experimental gardens held out the hope and promise of a better and fairer future for mankind.

Two undeniable facts kept Burbank's reputation undimmed. First, that Burbank's own honesty and integrity were never questioned. Too many people had known and dealt with him. They found him modest, absolutely sincere of the highest integrity, and a charming, lovable man. The second was that he was a pioneer in new large scale methods of plant breeding.

There was no person to carry on Burbank's, for he failed in the building of an organization. Although he employed many assistants, he never hired an expert as a consultant or adviser. He worked alone.

If Burbank's work stopped at his death, the kind of work he did has continued and grown through the years, partly as a result of his fame and reputation. But perhaps the greatest incentive to the continuance of his kind of work is to be found in a law, the Plant Patent Act of 1830 passed by Congress just four years after his death. The Plant Patent Law permits the owner of a patent to license growers to propagate cuttings or grafts and to collect a royalty on sales for 17 years.

In 1933 Santa Rosa Junior College took over the world's most famous gardens, and in 1955 presented the property to the City of Santa Rosa as a memorial to Luther Burbank.

A & P Stores To Freeze Food Prices

An Early Warning System on price increases and a price freeze on private label products were announced today by the Columbus Division of A and P Food Stores as the company launched a new consumer program to fight inflation.

Donald Fields, vice president and general manager of the division, said initial steps in the company's Operation Aware program against inflation also included a Consumer Protection Policy.

The Early Warning System will be keyed to The Aware List with each store posting on a weekly basis a list of all products that have increased in cost a full seven days before the retail prices are changed. This will provide consumers an opportunity to stock up at the old price. "Be Aware" shelf tags will spotlight the more frequently-purchased items with the day the price is to be increased listed on the tag.

Under the voluntary price freeze on A and P private labels, present prices will be held on over 1,000 products at least until the end of the year. These will include such everyday items as bread, cheese, coffee, tuna, pasta products, canned fruits and vegetables as well as frozen food items.

The 13-point Consumer Protection Policy represents A and P's continuing commitment in terms of service, satisfaction and information to help customers obtain the most for their money. The new policy is to be prominently displayed in each store.

New Offense Helps Westfall Beat SVC Jinx

Westfall won its first Scioto Valley Conference game in three seasons and snapped an eight-game losing streak with an impressive 59-55 home court win over powerful Zane Trace Friday night.

A trash can offense designed by Coach Mike Eckle after last week's humiliating 49-33 loss to Huntington paved the way for the win.

"I took different parts of different offenses," Eckle said in describing his rotation-type attack that netted 22 first-period points. "It gives us much more movement and allows us to take shots closer to the board."

Eckle, dismayed at the 16 per cent shooting night against Huntington, gave the players a week to learn the new attack.

It helped Westfall to a 42 per cent shooting night, as they hit on 20 of 48 shots from the floor. Foul shooting also helped as Westfall canned 19 of 30 shots for a 63 per cent average while Zane Trace managed only 13 of 20.

It was, however, an evenly matched game throughout.

Westfall jumped to a 22-18 first period lead and held a 34-31 advantage at the half.

In the third period, the Mustangs opened up a six-point margin, but Zane Trace closed it to 47-44 going into the final stanza.

Zane Trace had a chance to cut the margin with 2:12 left when Delbert Tatman's free throw brought the count to 54-52 in favor of the Mustangs. However, he missed the second shot of the technical foul and Jeff Wright also missed a technical shot.

But, Doug Williams sank a technical shot at the Mustang end for a 55-52 score.

The closing minutes of the game were hectic, but the Mustangs stayed together as a team and showed great poise.

Three players scored in double figures for Westfall.

Chris Riddle paced the attack with 14 points on five field goals and four foul shots. Doug Williams, the only senior on the team, and Brad Beatty, the only other lettermen besides Williams, both added 12 points on three field goals and six foul shots.

Kevin Reid hit for eight points, Bill Hamman has six, Mack Dick scored four, and Terry Hanson had two.

Reid was the leading rebounder with 12. Riddle had nine, and Williams had seven for Westfall.

Jeff Wright paced Zane Trace with a 20-point performance. Roger Lyons and Charlie Thurston had 10 each.

The win was the first of the year for Westfall. Zane Trace is also 1-1 after scoring an opening game win over Piketon 72-44.

But more important for the Mustangs, it was the first win in the SVC since Jan. 28, 1972, when they topped Laurelville 82-72.

The Mustangs were 0-6 in the league and 3-15 last year, 0-6 in the league and 0-18 in 1973, and 1-6 in the league and 3-15 in 1972.

"We're not up to par yet," Eckle said, fresh from a shower signifying his first-ever SVC win. "But I was extremely proud of the players for sticking together. We shot like we wanted to win and were patient in taking our shots."

Tonight, the Mustangs will go against Mid-Eight League opponent Millersport in another home game.

Pro Grid Division Crowns On Line

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

You never know who your friends are.

For the Pittsburgh Steelers, it could be the Miami Dolphins. For the Minnesota Vikings, it could be the Philadelphia Eagles.

The St. Louis Cardinals already know who theirs are.

Pittsburgh and Minnesota are within grabbing distance of National Football League's Central Division titles this weekend—but they need help to lock them up.

The Steelers will take the American Conference's half of it if they beat Houston on Sunday and runner-up Cincinnati loses to Miami on Monday night.

The Vikings will own the National Conference's half of it if they knock off New Orleans and second-place Green Bay falls to Philadelphia. Detroit, which had been tied with the Packers, fell out of contention Thursday by losing 31-27 to Denver.

The Cardinals got their Thanksgiving Day treat from the Dallas Cowboys, who whipped Washington 24-23. That put the Redskins 1½ games back of St. Louis in the NFC East—and if the Cards can turn back Kansas City on Sunday, they'll win the division championship, their first title of any kind since 1948, when they were called the Chicago Cardinals.

In Sunday's other games, it's Baltimore at Buffalo, New England at Oakland, Los Angeles at Atlanta, San Diego at the New York Jets, the New York Giants at Chicago and San Francisco at Cleveland.

When Pittsburgh edged Houston 13-7 on Oct. 6, Joe Gilliam was the Steelers' quarterback while Lynn Dickey called the Oilers' signals. That's all changed now.

Terry Bradshaw will start after leading the Steelers past New Orleans 28-7 last Monday night. And Dan Pastorini, having his best season ever, will be at the controls for the Oilers.

The Bengals, defending AFC Central champs, are threatened not only with losing the title but getting knocked out of wildcard playoff contention. They're bucking one of the longest trends in the league. The Dolphins have won 29 straight home games, four of them in the playoffs.

Minnesota is hurting in several ways. First, they've lost two straight games and have seen a once solid division lead shrink to one game. And they're playing hurt, with nine players injured. The defense has been hit the hardest.

Linebackers Ray Winston and Amos Martin are listed as questionable starters. Among the "probables" for the game against the Saints are safety Paul Krause, with a pulled hamstring, linebacker Wally Hilgenberg, limping with a muscle pull, safety Jeff Wright, bothered by an ankle injury, cornerback Terry Brown, with an injured right arm, and defensive tackle Doug Sutherland, with a charley horse.

The Packers, behind John Hadl, have put their offense together to run off three straight victories. But, as some might say, the Eagles are "due." They've lost six in a row and a season that began with such bright hopes has gone down the drain.

The Cardinals and Chiefs have met only once before in a regular-season battle for the "Missouri championship." That 1966 game ended in a 6-6 tie. With sudden-death in the NFL lexicon, it's not likely to end that way again.

The AFC East race has, since the start of the season, been the tightest. The Bills and Dolphins are deadlocked at the top with New England just one game back.

Buffalo's O.J. Simpson is on the verge of another 1,000-yard rushing season, needing just 63 to hit four figures. Baltimore needs a victory to have a shot at climbing out of the division's cellar.

The Patriots will have their hands full trying to stay in the race. They're facing the AFC's most balanced offensive team in Oakland, led by Ken Stabler, the conference's No. 2 passer, Cliff Branch, it's No. 1 receiver, and Marv Hubbard, it's No. 6 rusher. And the Raiders, already champs of the AFC West, will be out to rebound from an upset loss to Denver a week ago.

The Rams, winners in the NFC West, shut out the Falcons 21-0 in their first meeting this year and Atlanta suffered another shutout last week against San Francisco.

The Chargers are last in the AFC West and have been hit by injuries that will force them to start an all-rookie backfield against the Jets, who have won three in a row with Joe Namath throwing two touchdown passes in each game.

Craig Morton has brought the Giants' offense to life in recent games but his defensive teammates have fallen down on the job in the waning minutes. New York has lost three in a row, the last two on last-second field goals. The Bears, meanwhile, found a semblance of offense last week, scoring a touchdown for the first time in five games—but have still lost five in a row.

San Francisco is gunning for respectability after it's dismal start. If they reach it, rookie quarterback Tom Owen and a resurgent defense will be the reasons. Owen, a newcomer among NFC passing leaders, has thrown for five touchdowns in his last two games and the 49ers have won both of them with shutouts. The Browns, already assured of their first losing season since 1956, are also in danger of finishing last in the division for the first time in their history.

Melvin's Woe Theft Probed At Wellington

WELLINGTON, Ohio (AP)— Lorain County sheriff's deputies pressed their search today for clues to the disappearance of Melvin's Woe, winner of the 1973 Little Brown Jug pacing classic.

The horse, owned by Thurman Downing of the Downing Coal Co., was estimated by some sources to be worth $300,000.

Bonnie Brae Farms owner William Murray said he learned the horse was missing early Friday morning when he received a telephone call.

"You'll never see that horse again," Murray said the caller told him.

"I thought at first someone was pulling a joke," Murray said. "I went out right away and saw the stall was empty. The back door was open."

Murray said the thief or thieves had led the horse across the paddock, through a fence and loaded him into a trailer about an eighth of a mile away.

Murray said the horse wouldn't be worth more than a couple of hundred dollars if the thief tried to sell him.

He said the horse had been raced widely and was well known in racing circles.

Melvin's Woe is chestnut colored, with white on left hind and front ankles and a white star on his forehead.

Murray wouldn't say what he thought the horse was worth, but said he had been getting $1,000 stud fees, and "there were over 100 mares promised to him.

"It's a great loss," Murray said. "I've been in the horse business a long time, but I never heard of anything like this before."

N.Y. Nets Defeat Colonels

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There seems to be some disagreement between coaches Kevin Loughery of New York and Hubie Brown of Kentucky.

The Nets beat the Colonels 107-98 in an American Basketball Association game Friday night, and Loughery gave the credit to his defense.

"The defense in the second period turned it around," he said. "In practice, all I've been working on is defense. The guys have been getting out of position."

But that's not the way Brown saw it.

"Their defense had nothing to do with it. We had horrendous shooting. One thing about my team, though, is that they don't fold up. We came back and made a run at them."

The Nets held Kentucky to just 11 points in the second quarter while scoring 30 with the help of Julius Erving, who totaled 33 points in the victory.

In other ABA contests, Utah beat St. Louis 103-98, Indiana buried San Diego 139-114, Memphis blasted Virginia 118-83 and Denver defeated San Antonio 139-124.

Despite the return of Marvin Barnes to St. Louis' lineup, the Spirits could not prevail. Barnes, who disappeared from the team Nov. 20 over a contract dispute, took seven shots in the game and missed them all to wind up the night scoreless.

Ron Boone ran off five straight points to give the Stars a 96-94 lead which they did not relinquish. Boone had 31 points for the game.

Indiana's Darnell Hillman had the best scoring night of his career, scoring 30 points to provide the winning margin and then some over the Conquistadors.

The Pacers raced to a 10point lead, 34-24, going into the second quarter, and kept up the pace throughout the game.

Collis Jones and Stew Johnson figured in a four-minute surge in the final period that propelled the Sounds past Virginia. Larry Finch led the Sounds in scoring with 22 points.

Memphis notched the victory without leading scorer Rick Mount and leading rebounder Mel Daniels, both sidelined with injuries.

In a high-scoring contest, the division-leading Nuggets got 28 points from Ralph Simpson and 24 from Mack Calvin. San Antonio took an early lead, 12-6, but could not keep Denver from scoring its 11th consecutive home victory.

Blazers Top Southmen

MEMPHIS (AP) — The Florida Blazers figure they not only won a berth in the World Bowl, but also crossed up the World Football League establishment Friday night by making good on their promise to vent their financial frustrations on the Memphis Southmen.

The Blazers' 18-15 victory before a crowd of 9,692 and a national television audience turned on a fumble recovery and Richard James' four-yard touchdown run with 1:13 left to play. It catapulted them into next Thursday night's championship game against the Americans in Birmingham.

"We beat Memphis, the World Football League and their money," rejoiced linebacker Larry Ely. The Blazers have been playing without pay for 13 weeks.

TV Blasts Marysville In Metro Opener

Shooting 44 per cent from the floor on 31 of 70 attempts and placing three players in double figures, the Teays Valley Vikings demolished Marysville 81-56 in the opening Metro League game for both schools.

Lee Stiles led the Vikes, defending league champions, with 20 points on six field goals and eight free throws. He also grabbed eight rebounds.

Senior Kevin Pettibone pumped in 17 points on seven field goals and three free throws, and senior Terry Collins hit for 15 points on six field goals and three free throws.

Bill Browning and Chuck Glitt scored six points, Dan Smoot, Dave Schiff, and Rusty Rathburn had four each, Jeff Cauger had two, George Spohn hit on basket and ripped off nine rebounds, and Mark Messicka sank a free throw.

TV jumped off to an 18-8 first quarter advantage after a slow start, and increased the lead to 37-17 at the half. The third period score was 66-32.

Sophomore forward Don Phipps hit seven field goals and four free throws for 18 points to pace the Monarchs. Jay Groat scored 10 points.

The Vikings, 2-0 on the year after an opening game win against county rival Logan Elm 68-53, will play their first game away from the TV court next Friday when they travel to Olentangy. But then Saturday, it's back to Ashville for a home encounter with Circleville.

Alabama, Texas Post Wins

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant, declaring himself four times happy with his second-ranked Alabama team's 17-13 victory over Auburn, says he believes the Crimson Tide is the nation's best football team.

The Friday decision over seventh-ranked Auburn gave Alabama an 11-0 record to take into its Jan. 1 rematch with Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl. It also gave the Tide its fourth consecutive Southeastern Conference crown, a record, and its 43rd victory in its last 44 regular-season games.

In Friday's other major football game, the Texas Longhorns beat Texas A&M 32-3.

The Tide will have to break a bowl jinx to have any hopes of a fourth national title under Bryant. Alabama has not won a bowl game since its 1966 team swamped Nebraska, although it came tantalizingly close in a 24-23 Sugar Bowl match with Notre Dame for the national title last season.

No. 1 Oklahoma is on probation and cannot play in a bowl, but the Sooners still face Oklahoma State in their quest for the championship.

"I said before the game I'd be happy with a one-point victory so now I'm four times happy," Bryant said. "We're not near as good as we're going to be now that we've got all our people back from injuries."

Auburn rallied in the final minutes after the Tide had frittered away several chances to put the game out of reach.

Alabama jumped to a 10-0 lead on a 45-yard pass from Richard Todd to Willie Shelby and a 36-yard field goal by Bucky Berrey. But Auburn came back to score on a short run by Secdrick McIntyre and lost a chance to deadlock the game when defensive end Leroy Cook blocked his third field goal of the year late in the first half.

Milwaukee Bucks Top KC-Omaha

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Bucks took no bows for their offense Friday night, but they cut off Kansas CityOmaha's—specifically, Nate Archibald—and managed a 102-99 victory over the Kings.

Archibald, one of the National Basketball Association's most exciting players, did manage to score 20 points, less than one under his average. But he sank only eight of 24 shots as the Bucks jammed his routes to the basket and shut off his favorite passes.

Elsewhere in the NBA, the Washington Bullets trimmed the Buffalo Braves 96-93, the New York Knicks knifed the Boston Celtics 96-86, the Seattle SuperSonics tripped the Philadelphia 76ers 121-119 in overtime, the Atlanta Hawks stopped the Houston Rockets 96-91 and the Los Angeles Lakers defeated the New Orleans Jazz 127-122.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, playing all but five minutes in his second start since recovering from a broken hand, scored 37 points as the Bucks won their fourth game in five starts and snapped a four-game Kings winning streak.

Nate Williams scored 26 for the Kings, whose own rally failed in the final minutes as Archibald several times drove the lane and missed off-balance shots without drawing fouls.

Officials' calls, or lack of them, incensed Kings' Coach Phil Johnson, whose complaints cost him a technical foul midway through the fourth quarter, declined to complain for the record.

Mount Union Upsets KSU, Wins 65-60

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rex Hughes debut as basketball coach at Kent State was a disaster Friday night, and he took it personally.

"I coached very poorly," a dejected Hughes said after little Mount Union defeated the Golden Flashes 65-60.

Hughes, who figures a major university like Kent State shouldn't lose to an Ohio Conference team, termed it his "worse loss in six years of college coaching."

Why should he shoulder all of the blame?

"Because I'm responsible for getting the team ready to execute offensively and defensively and obviously it wasn't very good and it reverts back to me," he said.

"We played better in practice. It's something I have to straighten out."

Kent came alive in the closing seven minutes of play and nearly pulled the game out. The Flashes cut a 20-point deficit to four points with 52 seconds left on the clock but couldn't get any closer.

Zettie Sims of Mount Union led all scorers with 21 points. Brad Robinson netted 16 points and had 12 rebounds for Kent.

The game was the season opener for both squads.

In other Ohio college basketball action, Kenyon rolled over Tiffin 85-50 behind the 29-point performance of sophomore Tim Appleton in its first game of the season. The loss was Tiffin's fourth in as many games.

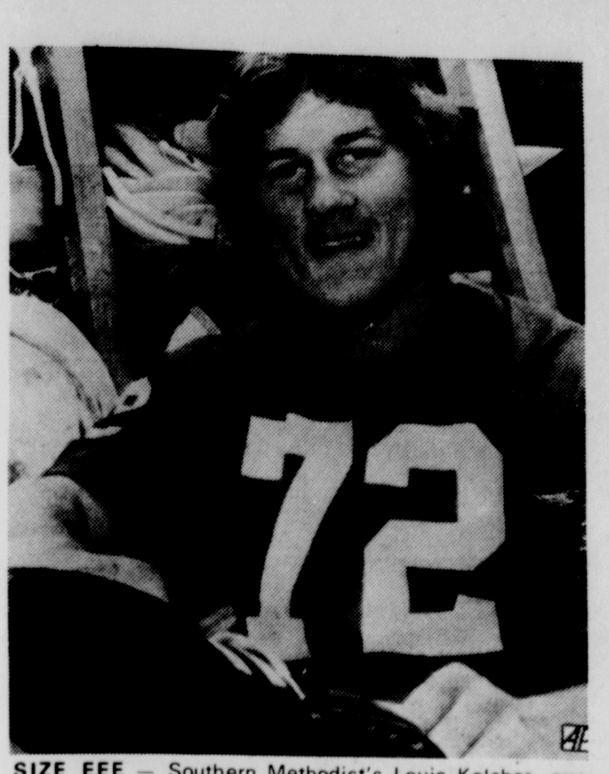
U.S. Team Leads Japan In Golf

OSAKA, Japan (AP) — The nine-man U.S. team, led by Hubert Green, stretched its lead to six strokes over Japan after Saturday's second round of the fourth annual U.S.-Japan Golf Tournament.

The Americans led 1,167-1,173 in the event, in which each golfer for each team plays 18 holes each day, with the scores of the best eight over three rounds counting in the chase for the $15,000 prize awarded to the winning team.

The first official American flag, the Continental or Grand Union flag, was displayed on Prospect Hill, Jan. 1, 1776, in the American lines besieging Boston.

William S. Burroughs invented the adding machine.



SIZE EEE — Southern Methodist's Louie Kelcher, one of nation's standout middle guards, ties laces on 16 EEE width shoes at Dallas, Texas. He's 6-foot-5, weighs 270.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Not a day for forcing issues or deliberately bringing up controversial subjects. Hold your peace, for the time being.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Your perceptiveness not quite as keen as usual. Care! Be sure to take all factors into account when sizing up unexpected situations.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): You will have access to some unusual gains now if you move with forethought and know-how. Mercury, propitious, stimulates your ingenuity and intuition.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Continue toward your goals even if you have not yet achieved positive results. An influential friend may lend a helping hand.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): A bit of news received unexpectedly could have a happy impact on your job status; may concern a new responsibility and compensatory profit.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Capitalize on your clear-cut, smart perceptions. Direct your versatility into profitable channels. An all-around good day!

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): A fine day for artistic, literary and social interests. In all things, exploit your general know-how and finesse to the hilt.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Be careful to avoid errors which could be prevented through better planning and more forethought. There's a tendency toward implusive action now.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): A new contact, possibly a change of scenery or activity indicated. Make the most of all, since they could broaden your scope of interests.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Use good judgment in all situations: Restrain vigor when it seems politic; be aggressive where such tactics are required.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Uranus auspicious. You can achieve much if you will make the best use of your creative abilities and turn on that special charm which is so innately yours.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Generous aspects stimulate your interests and leanings, and your personality should shine. A novel adventure could also please you.

YOU BORN TODAY have been endowed with extraordinarily good judgment and a keenly analytical mind. Extremely versatile and ambitious, you usually set lofty goals for yourself and, by dint of hard work and persistence, almost always attain them. No matter what career you choose, however, you MUST be active. Tedious and monotonous jobs are not for you; neither are jobs which give you no freedom or room for expansion. You are only happy when "on the move" — and that means upward. Fields in which you could especially succeed: the law — with development along political or juridicial lines; science, literature, journalism and music. Birthdate of: Mary Martin, musical comedy star.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE – Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Kroger Stores To Stabilize Food Costs

The Kroger Co.'s Columbus Marketing Area announced today that it would freeze retail prices on more than 1100 items for the remainder of this year, through Feb. 1, 1975, in an experimental attempt to limit inflation and stabilize spiraling food costs.

Harold P. Templeton, vice president of the Columbus Division, said that this new marketing effort would affect the 87 Kroger stores operated from Columbus headquarters, which services Kroger stores north to Fostoria, west to Lima-Urbana, south to Portsmouth, and east to Weirton-Wheeling, W.Va.

"This anti-inflationary pricing policy is the direct result of our buying and warehousing large enough quantities of those particular 1100 items," Templeton said.

A key part of the Kroger Freeze Program is that leading national brands, as well as Kroger's own brands are included in such categories as: dairy, baking, pantry, frozen foods, household needs, and health and beauty aids.

"This new Freeze Program is a direct response to consumer anxiety over rising food costs. What it does is make it possible for us to guarantee to shoppers that prices will not rise on more than 1100 items. We will do our best to keep all of our prices down, of course, so many other prices will stay down too," Templeton said.

"Blue shelf markers saying 'Kroger Price Freeze,' will inform the customer which items are included in the 1100 selected for price freezing," Templeton said.

MAY WE PLAY THROUGH?—Gary Dean, band director at Circleville High School, toured the Santa Claus parade route in a golf cart Friday. But it wasn't that he was lazy. The cart served to carry candy canes that were distributed by majorettes to youngsters in the crowd. And it served to transport John Jacobs, a band member with a bad ankle. Middle East Collaboration Between U.S., Russia Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is hopeful that he and Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev may have found a formula for collaborating in the search for a Middle East peace, a U.S. official has indicated.

Although the drive for a new arms curb agreement dominated news out of last weekend's Vladivostok summit, an American official who was there suggested Friday that a between-the-lines reading of the Ford-Brezhnev communique points clearly toward joint efforts to defuse the Middle East situation.

Curiously, the key section of the communique dealing with the Middle East was omitted from the text handed American reporters in Vladivostok when Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger held a news conference there to discuss the summit. Kissinger and the reporters focused on the quest for a new agreement to limit strategic nuclear weapons.

Reporters were told of the omission hours later. White House officials attributed it to a typist's error.

An official who asked that he not be named said the communique could be interpreted as suggesting, if indirectly, that the United States might favor Palestinian participation in the Geneva conference on the Middle East if the Palestine Liberation Organization agrees to recognize Israel's right to exist as an independent state.

The New York Times in Friday's editions quoted Arab diplomatic sources in Beirut, Lebanon, as saying Ford and Brezhnev worked out a formula in Vladivostok to break a deadlock in negotiations.

According to these sources, the Soviet Union promised to try to persuade Yasir Arafat, head of the PLO, to concede Israel's right to independent existence in exchange for U.S. efforts to persuade the Israelis to negotiate with the Palestinians.

The U.S. official, while stopping short of confirming this formulation, said it would not be inconsistent with the language of the Ford-Brezhnev communique.

Long before going to Vladivostok, Ford made a news conference statement that was widely interpreted as hinting that the United States would not be displeased if Israel agreed to negotiate with the PLO. Israelis often have declared they will not talk with the PLO, arguing it is a terrorist organization that aims at dissolving their country.

Heavy snow warnings for western Ohio and a winter storm watch for eastern Ohio were in effect today as a winter storm system pushed eastward toward the Buckeye State.

At dawn, the system stretched from southern Illinois and western Indiana through Iowa and Missouri. The system, dropping up to four inches of snow in those areas, was expected to push into western Ohio late this morning and arrive in the eastern portions early tonight.

Rain was expected in the southern third of the state, possibly mixed with snow. In western Ohio, snow accumulations of four or more inches were likely.

Snow is expected to continue tonight except in southern Ohio, with lows from the mid 20s to the lower 30s. By Sunday, the highs should remain in the 30s while snow is expected to continue.

Kidnaped Industrialist Unharmed

BOSTON (AP) — A Boston area industrialist who was kidnaped by three hitchhikers Thanksgiving Day and driven to Canada was found unharmed early today by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in Edmundston, N.B., the FBI here reported. The FBI said two of his abductors were arrested.

The FBI said Galen McLaughlin, 64, was rescued about 5 a.m.

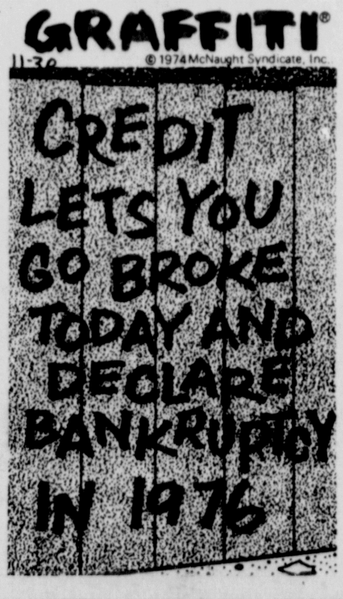
Reached at her home in Acton, Mrs. Mabel McLaughlin said, "I got the good news about 5:30 this morning. He called ...collect...said he was fine and that he had been taken for a ride. That's all. He said he was OK; that he wasn't hurt."

Asked when she plans to see her husband, Mrs. McLaughlin said she did not know. "First he's going on with his plans to see his mother in Bradley, Maine," she said.

The two men arrested today were identified by the FBI as Andrew Dodge and Richard P. Knowles. The FBI said it had no ages or hometowns for them.

Canadian authorities earlier had arrested a third man in connection with the kidnap. Acton police and James O. Newpher, special agent in charge of the Boston FBI office, identified him as Ronald G. Valente of Haverhill, Mass.

Newpher said Valente "was wearing the victim's clothes and carrying his identification" when arrested.



Want Man For Murder Near Lima

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — The Allen county sheriff's office Friday filed an aggravated murder charge against John Paul Knowles, 28, who is in custody in Bibb County, Ga., in connection with another slaying.

Knowles, who also is wanted for questioning in a dozen murders throughout the country, is sought here for the slaying of William Bates, 32, whose decomposed body was found Thursday in a wooded area near Lima.

The sheriff's office filed extradition papers in an effort to bring Knowles to Lima for trial.

Knowles had been indicted in Georgia in connection with the July 27 beating death of a Jacksonville, Fla., school teacher.

Sheriff's deputies here said the Florida school teacher's car was found abandoned in a Lima motel parking lot Oct. 4.

Bates' car was found Nov. 15 in West Palm Beach, Fla., deputies said.

Bates disappeared Sept. 3 while en route to his office at the Ohio Power Co. His unclothed body, bound and gagged with electrical tape, was found about five miles from the motel where the Florida car was discovered.

Coroner William Noble said Bates had been strangled.

Gas Service Curbs OKd

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio has authorized the West Ohio Gas Co., which serves the west central section of the state, to curtail natural gas service to certain classes of commercial customers.

In the interim order, the commission permitted the company to deny any new industrial natural gas service and to reduce the supply available for new and existing commercial customers.

West Ohio had requested the authority after learning its supplier, Columbia Gas Transmission Corp., was reducing its natural gas allocation.

Similar requests by the East Ohio Gas Co. in northeastern Ohio and the River Gas Co. in the southeastern part of the state will be considered by the commission at public hearings in Columbus Dec. 16 and Jan. 6.

Woman Runs Off Roadway On Route 23

Shortly after 9:30 p.m. Friday a call was made to the Circleville Post of the State Highway Patrol reporting that a vehicle had run off the roadway approximately four miles north of South Bloomfield.

Upon arrival at the scene, patrolmen found that Ruth Swackhammer, 32, of Lockbourne had apparently fallen asleep at the wheel of her auto while traveling south on Route 23. Ms. Swackhammer lost control of her vehicle and ran off the right side of the road and was unable to pull back onto the highway because of a steep embankment.

The car continued on to the right after leaving the roadway and finally came to rest in a small woods in the area. Patrolmen left the road on foot to investigate the accident since the vehicle was completely obscured from the highway.

Ms. Swackhammer received injuries during the accident but refused treatment on the scene.

No citations have been made at this time and a spokesman for the Highway Patrol said this morning that investigations were still being conducted.

North Viets Claim Spy Trips Flown

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — North Vietnam charged today that U.S. reconnaissance planes conducted spy missions over its territory on Thursday. A Foreign Ministry statement broadcast by Hanoi Radio did not specify what cities or areas the plane allegedly flew over.

A spokesman for the U.S. Embassy was not immediately available for comment. Official U.S. sources in the past have acknowledged that U.S. reconnaissance planes fly missions over North Vietnam, although the cease-fire agreement signed in January, 1973 prohibits such flights.

Guaranteed Oil Prices Plan Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Industrial nations might be able to break free from dependence on Middle East oil by guaranteeing high oil prices to spur development of new sources, a Ford administration official suggests.

A guaranteed price of between $7 a barrel and the present world price of $10 might be enough to encourage major oil companies to open up new oil fields around the world, Thomas O. Enders, assistant secretary of state for economic and business affairs, said Friday.

Enders told a hearing of the House-Senate international economics subcommittee that federal subsidies to oil companies might be one way of providing the guarantees in the United States.

But Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., subcommittee chairman, said he thought that if Enders' suggestion became reality, the industrial nations would "become free of tyranny of the oilproducing countries only to be ripped off by the major oil companies."

Reuss also said that oil price subsidies, combined with another administration proposal to support a $25-billion-a-year energy emergency fund for industrial nations, would pose a hardship for American taxpayers.

Enders emphasized, however, that President Ford has not decided to include the subsidy plan or any other specific proposals in recommendations he will make to Congress in January.
